To Learn How Americans Make War Read Headley's "Great Rebellion."

9 9 9

ALSO READ

THE GREAT REBELLION.

A Complete History of the Civil War.

Profusely Illustrated with Reproductions of Numerous Fine Steel Engravings of Portraits and Battle Scenes.

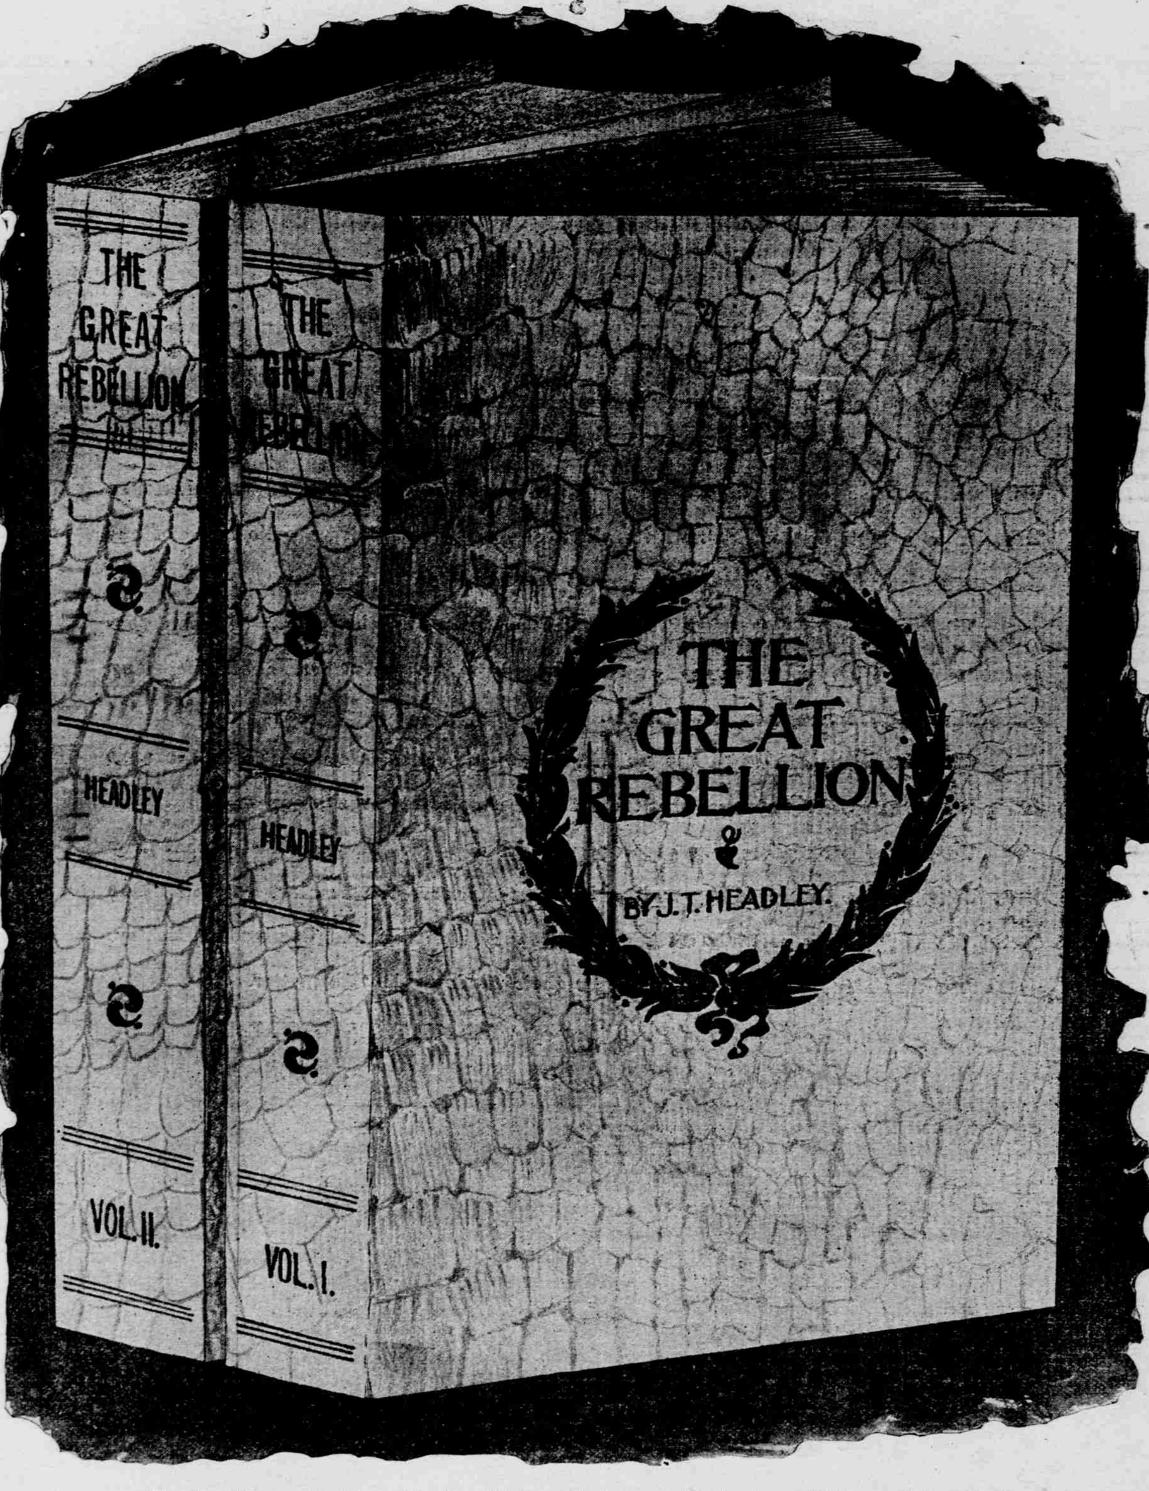

BY J. T. HEADLEY. Author of Napoleon and His Marshals; Washington and His Generals, etc.

TWO VOLUMES. 1,122 PAGES. LEATHERETTE COVERS

Heretofore this work has sold by subscription at $7 for the two volumes. The text of the author is complete and unabridged.

Mr. Headley's treatment of the great subject takes up the preliminary events and passes on to the firing on Fort Sumter and the tremendous events which followed. All the campaigns of the war are carefully explained and the battles described.

The work is written in that masterful style for which Mr. Headley is famous. The first volume covers the preliminaries and 18 months of the war. The second takes up the narrative beginning with the operations of the Army of the Potomac in the Summer of 1862, and carries the story forward until the surrender of Lee at Appomattox and the capitulation of Johnston put an end to the fighting. It is a standard work which should be in every American library.

The above is an exact photographic view, full size, of the two magnificent volumes which we send to subscribers. Substantially bound in leatherette.

THE NATIONAL TRIBUNE, which gives the best pictorial history of the war with Spain from week to week. THE NATIONAL TRIB-UNE is a large pictorial weekly, published at the National Capital. It presents each week a complete photograph of the big things on foot over the entire world. It is in close touch with the Seat of Government. It has its artists and correspondents scattered around the globe wherever great events are in progress. it is a mirror of the times. It is the arena where the talent of the world is assembled. It is American against all the world. It is published every Thursday. The regular subscription price of this paper is $1 a year.

TESTIMONIALS:

Clearfield, Pa., May 12, 1898. Editor National Tribune: The "Headley Histories" came yesterday. I consider them of more value and more use to me than a book that was recently sold in this neighborhood for $9. I thank you for your magnifi-cent present—I will not call it a premium.

Dade City, Fla., April 24, 1898.

Editor National Tribune The books came all right. They are worth thrice the subscription price of the paper. If the public knew how interesting they are they would rush to subscribe for the old National Tribune. A. W. Chisholme. Long may it live.

Mr. Editor: "Headley's Great Rebellion" received all right; very acceptable. The books and that Tribune for $1 are the cheapest of anything I ever saw. The Tribune is invaluable. George W. Weedon, Princeton St., Johnston, R. L.

Smithshire, Ill., April 11, 1898.

John H. Salsman.

The National Tribune, Washington, D. C. Dear Sir: I received the books, "Headley's Rebellion," the other day, and will say I am much pleased with them. I like The National Tribune better than ever before, and think it an ideal Thanking you for the books, I remain, yours F. Leslie Brazelton.

Nerwich, N. Y., May 13, 1898. Editor National Tribune: All of my club of subscribers are greatly pleased. They say they have a great bargain, for the books alone, or the paper alone, are worth much more than they paid for both.

The Most Liberal Offer Ever Made by a Newspaper:

In order to introduce THE NATIONAL TRIBUNE to thousands of new readers

We will send

Headley's "Great Rebellion,"

The National Tribune, One Year,

Send $1 at once (this offer will not be continued) long) by check, draft, express order, postoffice order, or by registered letter, to

> THE NATIONAL TRIBUNE, Washington, D. C.

Or hand the $1 to the person whose name is written below, who is raising a club:

Name.

Address.